

News Break Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, February 11, 2018 print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. In King County, what two groups have the highest rates of homelessness compared to any racial or ethnic group? (MAIN)
2. The maker of the powerful painkiller OxyContin said it will stop marketing opioid drugs to doctors, bowing to a key demand of lawsuits that blame the company for helping trigger what? (MAIN)
3. Today in History: South African black activist Nelson Mandela was freed after 27 years in captivity. What year did this take place? (MAIN)
4. We chant it with locked arms and closed eyes, at campfires, in protest lines and from the pews at church, but the truth is, many of us have no clue what the lyrics mean or where they come from. "Kumbaya my Lord, kumbaya. Kumbaya my Lord, kumbaya." Thanks to research and lobbying by residents of a coastal community descended from slaves, the origins and meaning of "Kumbaya" have been recognized in Congress, raising hopes for what? (MAIN)
5. _____, the prehistoric monument in England that draws hundreds of thousands of visitors each year, is closer to getting a traffic tunnel nearby to "enhance and protect" the tranquil environment of the ancient landscape. (MAIN)
6. Last summer's news that a behemoth iceberg detached from one of Antarctica's largest floating ice shelves has sparked a sense of urgency among tourists eager to check the continent off their travel bucket lists.

That's especially the case for Chinese tourists, so much so that the Chinese government on Thursday established a new list of rules for people visiting Antarctica. What are the new rules? (MAIN)

7. In Seattle, where educators vigorously opposed the incursion of charters, School Board members point out that each student who enrolls in one means anywhere from $_____ to $_____ less for the district. (MAIN)
8. _____, 17, a snowboarder from Silverthorne, Colo., became the first American to win a gold medal at these Games when he captured the men's slopestyle event. Gerard will have a chance to win another medal when he competes in the Big Air competition later in the Games. (SPORTS)
9. When it comes to heart health, we hear a lot about the importance of reducing sodium, particularly because of its effects on what? (NW ARTS & LIFE)
10. _____ counteracts the effects of sodium by helping to remove some of it from your bloodstream. But more than that, it is essential to the proper functioning of every cell in your body. As an electrolyte, it regulates how fluids and minerals flow in and out of your cells, facilitates normal nerve function, helps to manage your body's pH, and controls the electrical activity of your heart and other muscles. It can also help prevent kidney stones and bone loss. (NW ARTS & LIFE)
